80th Apple Blossom Festival Celebrations 2012

October 2009

2010 Dates: May 26 to May 31, 2010

Dear Friends of the Festival,

“Blossomed Here, Enjoyed Everywhere”- the theme of the 2010 Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival. We invite you to celebrate the 78th Festival in ways that are meaningful to you and yours, in ways that honour tradition while embracing change. For most of us, Festival is about doing things with family and friends- parades, barbeques and concerts, surrounded by the beauty and fragrance of the blossoms and the optimism of the season.

78 years, an unbroken chain of community spirit, economic development, agricultural achievement and Festival fun, that is what we are celebrating in May. One of Canada’s oldest and best-known events, the Festival is the first big tourism opportunity of the season in Nova Scotia. From Windsor to Digby we welcome friends and visitors alike into our hometowns. The warmth of our hospitality, the quality of our locally produced foods and wines, and the sheer beauty of the land and sea around us, create the unique cultural experience that is the Annapolis Valley. Each spring we have the opportunity to make the magic of the blossoms part of our lives. From delicate blossom to perfect apple, on trees from one end of the valley to the next, the magic puts the Annapolis Valley on the global map. Our apples have been shipped around the world for decades and are renowned for superior taste and quality.

“Blossomed Here, Enjoyed Everywhere”- see you at Festival!

FESTIVAL OVERVIEW

- The Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival celebrated its inaugural year in 1933, and is now Canada's second longest consecutive running festival in Canada.
- Traditionally held in late May to early June (May 26 –May 31, 2010) the Festival salutes the culture, the heritage and the agricultural base of the Annapolis Valley.
- The Festival is one of the largest in Canada and is the “kick off” event for Nova Scotia's summer tourism season.
- Involving the participation of 16 sponsoring communities from Windsor to Digby, the Festival embodies a unique level of co-operation
- Over 150,000 visitors annually enjoy the great variety of family oriented events, which the Festival stages.
- Those visitors annually spend over $3 million while attending the various events. $1.25 million of this total is spent in off-site locations (based upon an Acadia University Study of 2008)
- The annual operating budget for the Festival is approximately $200,000 and the Festival is dependent on corporate sponsorship, municipal support and gate fees to raise those funds.

The Apple Blossom Festival is a non-profit organization, and tax receipts are issued to all financial supporters.
